Dear Adriana D'Arrigo,

We would like to congratulate you on your personal commitment in liaising between your candidates and Cambridge English Examinations Catania IT006.

It was great to see the last academic year return to normal life. Nonetheless, we are fully aware of all the hurdles you have faced in these recent years, in order to guarantee guidance for both your students and their families on their educational path towards the goals your classes are hoping to achieve. Your dedication has been vital in allowing your students to reach these educational goals.

We have always considered learning English more important than the exams and grades obtained. The skills your students have developed, thanks to the training path they have followed, give them the security of being able to communicate and share ideas and projects with the rest of the world. This ability was guided by your commitment towards your students, thus making them Global Citizens.

We all know how important it is today to demonstrate one's skills and for 110 years Cambridge English Qualifications have been a reference point for those who want to obtain recognition for their linguistic knowledge. Our certificates are in fact recognized by over 30,000 international organisations, becoming a gateway to the work and academic world, offering your students more opportunities.

Thanks to you and your ability to act as a coordinator between your candidates and IT006, it has been possible for families and students to keep up to date with methods and protocols to be followed, as well as signing up for Cambridge English Exam.

Wishing you a good start to the new academic year, we take this opportunity to remind you that as always, we are available as a support for your teaching needs and materials and of course Cambridge English exams.

Sincerely,

Daniel Patrick Smith
